The Dairy Club at Virginia Tech has a tradition of conducting top-notch activities and has always prided itself on achieving excellence. 90 years ago, the club had an idea which has developed into the event of the year, the Little All-American Show and Banquet. Excellent planning, hard work, and dedication of the students made this series of shows a tremendous success, with over 40 members competing in last year's show.

This tradition continues on March 24 as the club hosts the 90th Annual Little All-American Show and Banquet. Participants have two weeks to feed, bond with, and train a heifer that is randomly assigned to them from the VT Dairy. Through numerous workshops held during the two-week window, they learn how to prepare their heifer for the show ring and show day. Most members who are not showing are making sure everything is running smoothly outside of the show ring, getting the next couple classes lined up and offering last-minute advice to the novice showmen.

These shows would not have been possible without the tremendous support and help from our alumni, friends, and industry contacts. As we prepare for the 2018 show, we are asking for your continued help. We would greatly appreciate any supply donations as to help offset our show's expenses. Donors will be recognized throughout the two weeks leading up to the show, and will be listed on a banner displayed during the show.

Below is a list of supplies needed for the show; a donation of partial lots would be more than appreciated. Members of the Dairy Club are more than willing to pick up donated supplies at your farm or place of business (within a reasonable distance).
